

END OF RAIL STRIKE APPEARS NEAR; BOTH SIDES TO SUPPORT PROPOSALS

RAIL STRIKE LEADERS HOPE THE MEN WILL BE BACK AT POSTS BEFORE THE END OF THE WEEK

CHICAGO, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Strike leaders were arriving from all parts of the country today for Tuesday's meeting called to consider President Harding's plan for a settlement of the railway shopmen's strike and hopes were expressed that the men would be back at work before the end of the week.

The position of the striking shop employees was expressed by A. O. Wharton, labor member of the United States Railroad Labor Board, who declared:

"If either the railroad executives meeting in New York Tuesday or the shop crafts policy committee meeting in Chicago should reject Mr. Harding's peace proposal, the group that rejects it would face full responsibility for continuation of the rail strike and all that might result therefrom."

Expect Opposition From Rail Executives

The union leaders, however, expressed the belief that the peace plan would meet with the strongest possible opposition from railroad executives. They expressed the belief that the president's plan would be accepted finally, but only after a bitter struggle based on the refusal of many roads to consent to the restoration of seniority privileges to the strikers.

A member of the labor board asserted, however, that the general outlines of a settlement had been agreed to last week at conferences between President Harding and Mr. Cuyler and Bert Jewell, head of the striking shopmen.

"If peace had not been in sight on both sides," he declared, "neither would have consented to the separate meetings, because neither could afford to be placed in the position before the public of hearing the responsibility for a continuation of the walk-out through rejecting the president's plan."

Missouri Primary Tomorrow

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—What Missourians term the bitterest political campaign ever waged in the state, was ended today so far as James A. Reed, United States senator, and his opponent for renomination, Breckinridge Long, were concerned.

The Democratic contest has overshadowed that for the Republican senatorial nomination, for which six are vying.

The interest in the Democratic campaign has become so intense that "Red Us of Reed" clubs have been organized throughout the state.

On the other hand, clubs have been formed to rally to the support of the senior senator, Mrs. Champ Clark, widow of the former speaker of the house of representatives, and Miss Mahel Stone, daughter of the late Senator Stone, are among the Missourians who have cast their lot with the Reed cause.

Find Scion Of Russian Nobility

CLINTON, ILLINOIS, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—A nationwide search for a scion of the Russian nobility ended today when representatives of the Red Cross Society found Leon Zorowitch Gussel in Clinton, serving as a private in Company 1, 132nd artillery. The identification was made complete by a scar, after L. C. Conger, Allentown, Pa., had examined him. At the age of fourteen, Gussel crept into the American lines in France after all of his relatives had been killed. Cared for by doughboys and smuggled in a transport by George Lanes, an army cook, he came to America. He was held at Camp Devens until adopted by Lanes, who took him to New Albany, N. Y. Lanes married and the adopted son departed to make his own way.

Sutherland Under Fire In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. VA., July 31.—(United Press)—The insurgent movement that has upset old guard Republicans in Pennsylvania, Indiana, North Dakota and Iowa may extend to this state in the August 1 primaries, and claim Senator Howard Sutherland as its victim.

Sutherland is of the "old guard" type and there are plenty of political dopesters who predict his defeat. If he wins, he will have to defeat Herschel C. Ogden, publisher of the Wheeling Intelligencer. Ogden is basing his campaign on the record he has made as a publisher. During the past six months he had made a strong appeal to the labor element.

Discontent with Senator Sutherland's attitude towards the coal strike situation is expected to militate against him. Ogden is said to have had 200 workers in the field.

Government Machinery For Emergency Distribution Of Coal Swings Into Gear

DEVELOPMENTS IN COAL STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)
Henry B. Spencer, federal coal distributor, began operation of government machinery for allocation of coal shipments. Several minor disorders marked the progress of the strike in Pennsylvania, where attacks were made on miners. No one was seriously hurt.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The government machinery for emergency distribution of coal swung into gear today as the central committee here began action, functioning under the program devised to supply coal to the industries and localities where it is most needed and to maintain fair price levels at the mines.

Accepting only the responsibility of keeping the railroads and interstate public utilities supplied with coal and directing a proper distribution as between states at the same time through coal allocations holding mine prices at a fair level, the federal agency looked to the various states to control distribution to consumers within their borders.

As the distribution program went into effect, slow recovery in production was shown in reports of the geological survey for the week ending Saturday, the estimated total being 3,300,000 tons, as compared with 3,700,000 tons the week previous.

Stating there was indication of increased production in response to the invitation to reopen mines in any of the strongly organized districts, the report said more coal, however, was coming out of the former non-union fields of Pennsylvania, with slight increases in several other districts.

Steamship officials said the vessel was in no danger. They expected to transfer the passengers to another ship today.

Bomb Blasts On Striking Car Lines

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Increasing magnitude of the bomb and mine explosions along the lines of the International Railway Company resulted today in the assignment of a squad of detectives run down the terror squad, alleged to be operating in sympathy with the striking car men. Ex-patly with the striking car men, explosions under car wheels were frequent in all parts of the city last night. In one instance the car was blown in two and shrapnel was hurled. The blast shattered car windows and aroused sleepers within a radius of a block of the scene. The car crew was stunned.

RAILROAD EXECUTIVES, UNION LEADERS AND PENNSYLVANIA ASSURE HARDING OF SUPPORT

Veteran Soldier To Enter Pulpit

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—A soldier for 22 years and veteran of three wars, Colonel Arthur P. S. Hyde, 43, who arrived Saturday at the Presidio from Fort Amador, Panama, Canal Zone, announced today his intention to quit the army to don the robes of an Episcopalian clergyman.

Colonel Hyde, a graduate of West Point, while commanding in 1910 at Fort Flagler, Washington, where there was no resident chaplain, was ordained to the priesthood of the Episcopalian church.

Later while stationed at Seattle, Colonel Hyde accepted a call to the pulpit of St. Clements church, a post he left to go to France as commander of the 39th field artillery.

Upon his return to America, Col. Hyde was appointed to the general staff of the army at Washington, where he remained until 1919, when he was sent to the Canal Zone.

DEVELOPMENTS IN RAIL STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)
Friends and advisers of President Harding said that the president had received assurances from T. Dewitt Cuyler and W. W. Atterbury, of the executives, and B. M. Jewell, of the employees, that his proposals would be found sufficiently satisfactory to end the strike when they are considered at separate meetings of the leaders on both sides tomorrow.

Mr. Cuyler denied that he had definitely stated that the Harding plan would be accepted.

Persons in Chicago in close touch with the situation said they expected peace within 36 hours and the men returning to work within 48.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(By The Associated Press)—President Harding was said today by close personal friends and advisers to have received assurances from Chairman Cuyler of the Association of Railway Executives, Vice President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, and B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen's organizations that they would support his proposals for immediate ending of the strike.

These assurances were understood to be the basis of the president's hope for successful termination of his arbitration efforts. They have been the subject of discussion, it was reported, between the president and his immediate advisers, including some members of the senate.

The president has been told, it was said, that Mr. Jewell would in the union conference to be held tomorrow at Chicago give his endorsement to the settlement proposal.

Mr. Cuyler and Mr. Atterbury, it was said, did not go so far as the union head, but were said to have advised the president that they would at least vote for its acceptance. It was said that Mr. Cuyler told the president he would agree to present the executive's proposals to the railway heads' conference tomorrow at New York and in doing so express the personal belief that they ought to be adopted. The influence of Mr. Cuyler and Mr. Atterbury is counted upon by the administration to have a large influence at the railway executives' meeting.

Administration leaders said they expected spirited debate in tomorrow's session of the executives, but that the final result would be reluctant acceptance of the president's proposals. It might be, according to administration advisers, that the executives would go on record against accepting the proposals and yielding to the union demands for waiting the men's seniority rights, but place themselves in position of yielding under protest to a virtual "order" from the president. At the same time it was thought probable that the executives would take action declaring that the president and not they, themselves, were responsible for waiting the seniority question.

CUYLER CLAIMS NO PROMISES MADE

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—T. Dewitt Cuyler, head of the railroad executive organization, said today that "it is not true" that the railroad employers had given assurances they would support President Harding's proposal for an immediate ending of the strike.

Mr. Cuyler said there has "been no commitment of any kind." He added that the understanding was to await the president's proposal, which had not yet been received.

France Turns Down German Plan

BERLIN, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—France has rejected Germany's request for monthly payments of the debts contracted by German nationals with allied citizens prior to the world war.

The French note gives the German government ten days in which to signify that full payments will be continued in accordance with the London agreement and the decision of the allied clearing house offices; otherwise certain fixed measures will be applied automatically.

A serious view of the French reply is taken here, especially as the note was dispatched on the eve of the conference of allied premiers in London. Germany has asked that the clearing house payments be reduced from 2,000,000 pounds sterling to 500,000 pounds monthly.

Scores Hurt In Gas Blast

CHICAGO, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—A tank sixty feet wide and one hundred feet high, containing thousands of cubic feet of gas, blew up today at Twenty-fifth and Thrupp streets, a section inhabited mostly by laborers, injured more than a score of persons, set fire to a dozen houses and caused many persons within an area of several blocks to be overcome by the fumes. The flames were brought under control by the fire department.

The cause of the explosion was undetermined. The top of the tank blew off and witnesses said that simultaneously a tremendous sheet of flames shot upward. Within a few seconds houses were burning and scores of persons were fleeing.

A dock at the Chicago river caught fire and for some time several large lumber yards were threatened.

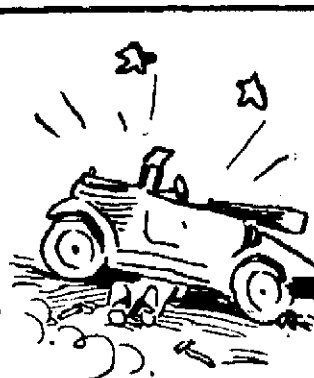

Within thirty minutes after the explosion 25 injured persons had been taken to hospitals and dozens of others were said to be receiving attention in private homes. The tank was owned by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Co., which announced that it had contained 4,200,000 cubic feet of gas.

The tank is one of those in which the city's reserve gas supply is stored. Nearby are two smaller tanks belonging to the same company and within a short distance there are tanks owned by other companies. The police said they could not understand why these tanks did not explode. Gas manufactured in various plants in the city and in Indiana are piped to these tanks for storage.

Many of those injured were women and children, the latter frequently playing around the streets in the neighborhood.

WOMAN HIT BY AUTO; BADLY HURT

Mrs. Ella Ratliff, wife of Robert Ratliff of the Tremper farm on the West Side, was seriously injured when struck by a large touring car driven by Claude Weaver of 1515 Offshore street, the accident occurring at Lakeside, just west of the Whitaker-Glessner blast furnace.

Mrs. Ratliff was removed to Mercy hospital in a physician's machine and there it was found that her worst injury was a badly torn left ear. It was almost torn off and had to be clamped back in place. She also suffered serious bruises and cuts on the right side of her face, and severe bruises about the back and abdomen. It was feared that she had been injured internally but today she rested well.

Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff had driven to Lakeside to attend church. They hitched their horses in front of the Quincy hotel home and Mrs. Ratliff was returning from the house to the buggy when she was struck and knocked down by the machine, which was traveling east on Gallia street.

According to Mr. Ratliff, who says he turned just in time to see the accident, his wife was knocked down and rolled back under the machine. He was the first one to her side after her body came from under the car. Weaver stopped his machine and came back to inquire about the woman's condition. Later he was ordered to report to the New Boston Mayor's office this morning. Mayor William Newberry set the investigation for Tuesday, deciding to wait until the exact extent of the woman's injuries could be ascertained.

Father Uses Rawhide Whip On Son; Fined; Child Turned Over To Court

Mr. and Mrs. William Newman of Munn's Run near the Divide were in Mayor William E. Newberry's court at New Boston Monday to answer to charges of mistreating Charles Newman, aged nine years.

During the trial it was brought out that the woman did not beat the child and the charge against her was dismissed. She is the lad's stepmother. The father was found guilty of the charge against him and he was let off with a fine of $10 and costs. The child will be turned over to the juvenile court.

Saturday neighbors of the Newman family reported to Mayor Newberry that the child was receiving unmerciful beatings. He notified Judge Harry Ball of the Humane Society and then went after the child Saturday. He brought the lad to his home in New Boston and kept him until this morning when he appeared in court.

It was charged that Newman used a four foot rawhide strap on the lad. According to Mayor Newberry, the lad said that he ran away many times to keep from receiving a beating which would result when his stepmother would complain to his father about some little things he would do. The father was represented in court by Attorney A. R. Campbell, while Judge Ball appeared for the Humane Society. The boy's back was exhibited to the judge and the big crowd that thronged the place and many women and men who were present voiced their disapproval of the treatment accorded the lad. Mayor Newberry in finding Newman guilty said that the boy's back was mute evidence of mistreatment and fined him $10 and costs and then ordered the lad taken to juvenile court so that he could be placed in a better home.

Seek The Removal Of Election Board Official

COLUMBUS, O., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Charges were filed today with Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith, as the state's chief election officer, against Daniel C. Brower, chief deputy of the Montgomery county board of elections, asking his removal.

The charges were submitted by Walter G. Matthews, representing a number of Republican voters of Montgomery county. Brower is accused of misfeasance and malfeasance in office, 28 specific instances of alleged wrong doing being cited.

The charges will be heard by the secretary of state at 9:00 a. m. Saturday. Matthews charges that Brower, as chairman of the election board, refused to follow the mandate of the statutes which requires at least 50 copies of the county list of registrants to be printed for distribution; that he has placed the complete mailing list at the disposal of one candidate for governor and a partial list to another but that all other candidates are at Brower's mercy through his failure to print the required lists.

It is also charged that Brower encouraged Democratic election officials to count Democratic votes and Republican officials to count Republican votes in violation of the law, which requires all officials to participate in the count.

The Republican Civic League, an organization opposing Brower, has been denied challenges at the polls on August 8. Matthews alleged other charges being that Brower levied a 10 per cent assessment against county employees for campaign expenses and demanded half of it before the primary so that the money is being used against some of the Republicans whose friends contribute it.

That Brower coveted, urged and demanded that certain candidates for various offices in the primary contest get off the ticket is also alleged.

Produce More Milk at Lower Cost

That's the way to make a profit nowadays. Horace M. Jones, extension dairy specialist of the South Dakota College of Agriculture at Brookings, says:

"The ultimate aim of dairy farming is to produce a profit from milking cows. Profits consist in reducing the cost of production to the very lowest possible point. This can be accomplished, not by reducing the amount of feed given a cow, but by administering feeds in such proportions and in such quantity as will cause the cow to reach her maximum production."

Cows on pasture need some concentrate because grass lacks the proper milk-making elements. Purina Cow Chow supplies what grass lacks. Cow Chow cuts the cost per gallon of producing milk—gets more milk from fewer cows.

Cow Chow will put the proof of more summer milk profits right in the milk pail.

Grecian Maiden To Replace Modern Flapper

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—A Grecian maiden, with classically bound hair, long draping and flowing robes, and sandals like footworn, such will be the stylish girl who will replace the present "flapper," in the opinion of some of the delegates who are attending the three day convention of the National Hair Dressers' Association, which opened here today. The hair dress naturally would have to fit the flowing sleeves of the straight line frocks, declared one of the delegates, and in accordance with that edict, bobbed hair eventually will have to go.

The return of the wig, though not as conspicuous as it was centuries ago, is seen by other dressers as probable when the "early bird" finds her days counted.

Steel Production Cut 70 Pct. In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—With steel production in the Youngstown district cut to 70 per cent of capacity by the shutting down of five open hearth furnaces today, executives of fabricating plants employing many thousands of men began anxiously to scan their stocks of steel with replenishment growing more and more uncertain. These concerns have sufficient steel on hand to run for some time as yet, varying from two weeks to several weeks, but a shortage of steel is an imminent possibility.

Eight blast furnaces in this district have been banked since the fuel crisis became acute, eliminating a daily production of more than 4,000 tons of pig iron, and throwing about 1,000 men out of employment.

DO YOU KNOW?

That the Portsmouth Morning Sun is one of the very few morning papers in this section that publishes the box scores of both major baseball leagues?

To do this it is necessary to have two separate wire services. The Morning Sun receives the full Associated Press report over a leased telegraph wire. No other morning paper coming to Portsmouth can bring you any more complete report. In addition to this The Sun has set up a special telephone wire each night over which the baseball scores are received so as not to curtail the general news.

This is but one feature of The Sun which is causing Portsmouth's morning newspaper to grow in a manner most satisfactory to its promoters.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

CHAPTER I
In the drowsy heat of the summer afternoon The Red House was taking its siesta. There was a lazy murmur of bees in the flower-borders, a gentle cooing of pigeons in the tops of the elms. From distant lawns came the whirr of a mowing-machine, that most restful of all country sounds; making ease the sweeter in that it is taken while others are working.

It was the hour when even those whose business it is to attend to the wants of others have a moment or two for themselves. In the house-keeper's room Audrey Stevens, the pretty parlormaid, re-trimmed her best hat and talked idly to her aunt, the cook-housekeeper of Mr. Mark Ablett's bachelor home.

"Funny thing that about Mr. Mark's brother. Fancy not seeing him for fifteen years."

"As I told you all this morning," said her aunt, "I've been here five years, and never heard of a brother, I could say that before everybody if I was going to die tomorrow."

"You could have knocked me down with a feather when he spoke about him at breakfast this morning. I didn't hear what went before, naturally, but they was all talking about the brother when I went in. Mr. Mark turns to me, and says, 'Stevens, you know his way.' Stevens, he says, 'my brother is coming to see me this afternoon. I'm expecting him about three, he says. Show him into the office,' he says, just like that. 'Yes, sir,' I says quite quietly, but I was never so surprised in my life, nor knowing he had a brother. 'My brother from Australia,' he says—there, I'd forgotten that. From Australia."

"Well, he may have been in Australia," said Mrs. Stevens, judiciously. "But what I do say is he's never been here. Not while I've been here, and that's five years."

"Well, but, auntie, he hasn't been here for fifteen years. I heard Mr. Mark telling Mrs. Cayley, 'Fifteen years, he says. Mr. Cayley having said him when his brother was last in England. Mr. Cayley knew of him, I heard him telling Mr. Bentley, but didn't know when he was last in England—see? So that's why he's not here.'"

"I'm not saying anything about fifteen years, Audrey. I can only speak for what I know, and that's five years what's true. It's been in Australia, as you say, well, I daresay he's had his reasons."

"What reasons?" said Audrey lightly. "Never mind what reasons. Being in the place of a mother to you, since your poor mother died, I say this, Audrey—when a gentleman goes to Australia, he has his reasons. And when he stays in Australia fifteen years, he has his reasons. And a respectably brought-up girl doesn't ask what reasons."

"Got into trouble, I suppose," said Audrey carelessly. "They were saying at breakfast he'd been a wild one."

The ringing of a bell brought Audrey to her feet—no longer Audrey but now Stevens. She arranged her cap in front of the glass.

"There, that's the front door," she said. "That's him. 'Show him into the office,' said Mr. Mark. I suppose he doesn't want the other ladies and gentlemen to see him. Well, they're all out at their golf, anyhow—Wonder if he's going to stay—Praps he's brought back a lot of gold from Australia."

"Now, now, get on, Audrey." "Just going, darling." She went out.

As Audrey came across the hall she gave a little start as she saw Mr. Cayley suddenly, sitting unobtrusively in a seat beneath one of the front windows, reading.

No reason why he shouldn't be there; certainly a much cooler place than the golf-links on such a day; but somehow there was a queer air about the house that afternoon. Mr. Cayley, the master's cousin, was a surprise; and, having given a little exclamation as she came suddenly upon him, she blushed, and said, "Oh, I beg your pardon sir, I didn't see you at first," and he looked up from his book and smiled at her.

An attractive smile it was on that big ugly face. "Such a gentleman, Mr. Cayley," she thought to herself as she went on, and wondered what the master would do without him. If this brother, for instance, had to be bundled back to Australia. It was Mr. Cayley who would do most of the bundling.

"So this is Mr. Robert," said Audrey to herself, as she came in sight of the visitor.

She told her aunt afterwards that she would have known him anywhere for Mr. Mark's brother, but she would have said that in any event. Actually she was surprised. Dapper little Mark with his neat pointed beard and his carefully curled mustache; with his quick-darting eyes, always moving from one to the other of any company he was in, to register one more smile to his credit when he had said a good thing, one more expectant look when he was only waiting his turn to say it; he was a very different man from this rough-looking, ill-dressed colonial, staring at her so loweringly.

"I wanted to see Mr. Mark Ablett," he growled. It sounded almost like a threat.

"Yes, sir. He is expecting you, if you will come this way."

The thoughts were not of great value; moreover, they were given off at the dinner-table more often than they got on to paper and got on to paper more often than they got into print. But that did not prevent the master of The Red House from being a little pained when a visitor treated the Temple carefully, as if it had been erected for the ordinary purposes of filtration and cigarette-smoking.

Audrey walked slowly up to the Temple, looked in and walked slowly back. All that walk for nothing. Perhaps the master was upstairs in his room. "Not well-dressed enough for the drawing-room." Well, now Auntie, would you like anyone in your drawing-room with a red handkerchief round his neck and great big dusty boots, and—listen!

One of the men shooting rabbits. Auntie was partial to a nice rabbit, and onion sauce.

She came into the house. As she passed the housekeeper's room on her way to the hall, the door opened suddenly, and a rather frightened face looked out.

"Hallo, Aud," said Elsie. "It's Audrey," she said, turning into the room. "Come in, Audrey," called Mrs. Stevens.

"That's up?" said Audrey, looking in at the door.

"Oh, my dear, you gave me such a turn. Where have you been?" "Up to the Temple."

"Did you hear anything?" "Hear what?" "Bangs and explosions, and terrible things."

"Oh!" said Audrey, rather relieved. "One of the men shooting rabbits."

"Rabbits!" said Mrs. Stevens, scornfully. "It was inside the house, my girl."

"Straight it was," said Elsie. "She was one of the housemaids. 'I said to Mrs. Stevens—didn't I, Mrs. Stevens—' That was in the house," I said."

Audrey looked at her aunt and then at Elsie.

"Do you think he had a revolver with him?" she said in a hushed voice.

"Who?" said Elsie excitedly. "That brother of his. From Australia. I said as soon as I set eyes on him, 'You're a bad lot, my man!'

"Well, I give you my word."

"There!" cried Mrs. Stevens, sitting up with a start.

They listened anxiously, the two girls instinctively coming closer to the older woman's chair.

A door was being shaken, kicked, rattled.

"Listen!" Audrey and Elsie looked at each other with frightened eyes. They heard a man's voice, loud, angry.

New City Directory Is Issued; Smith Family Of Course Takes Lead

The 1922 edition of R. L. Polk and Co.'s Portsmouth City Directory has just been issued from their presses and is being delivered to subscribers.

The volume contains 500 pages, presents a commendable typographical appearance and represents an achievement reflecting credit upon the municipality and the publishers as well. The latter enjoy the distinction of being the largest producers of City Directories, State Gazetteers and National and miscellaneous Directories in the world. Their work in that direction has extended over half a century and they have enjoyed the friendly esteem and confidence of business men in many hundreds of cities. Their imprint on a Directory is a guarantee of excellence and completeness and Portsmouth is fortunate in having the present Directory produced under such auspices. It has been produced with the same care as their larger Directories.

The Directory is recognized as a great social and business necessity and a valuable asset to a community. It is not only a book of names, addresses and occupations, it is an encyclopedia of accurate data concerning the people of a community and their various activities. It is the only accurate history of what the community was yesterday, is present today and will be tomorrow. It is a reliable index of what it may be tomorrow. Its pages point unerringly to the progress and development of the industrial life of the community. Every item in the Directory is of interest to some individual and to the city as a whole.

An important function of the Directory as a publicity medium is to set forth the characteristics and advantages of the city as a place of residence, as a business location, as an industrial site and as an educational center.

The introduction to the Directory contains an interesting review of Portsmouth's civic, social, commercial and industrial activities. The population is estimated by the publishers to be 41,623.

The Directory is compiled in departments. Thirteen pages are devoted to information concerning city and county government, banks, cemeteries, churches, schools, hospitals, libraries, clubs, societies, secret, social and beneficial, post office, public buildings, halls, etc. Sixty-three pages cover a street and avenue guide and directory of householders; the streets and avenues being arranged in alphabetical order, with the names of the residents compiled opposite each number. This feature of the directory, together with the list of citizens, forming a practically duplex directory. It takes four hundred and ninety-eight pages to list the names of citizens, business firms and corporations in Portsmouth. Seventy-three pages include a classified business directory containing the names of all persons and firms doing business or following a profession in the city, arranged under headings appropriate to the class of industry pursued or profession followed; this feature will be appreciated as a special trade directory.

The first name in the book is Abbott and the last Zwickert. The longest name is Leichtenheimer and the shortest Eck. As usual the Smith family leads in number of representatives in the directory having 198, followed by Johnson with 109, Jones with 93 and Brown with 78. There are many uncommon names that figure in the directory pages, which would pass unnoticed by the casual user of the book. Some of these names follow: Coldiron and Steel, Combs and Brush, Goings and Comings, Day and Night, Hill and Dale, Roots and Sheemaker, Short and Sweet, Ham and Fry, Large and Small, Law and Justice, Coffee and Tegarden, Upp and Downs, Hark and List, Days and Weeks, Childs and Doll, Steed and Trainer. There is one Man here, also a Thoroughman, two Virgins, one Gal, a Coon, a Buggy, three are Bare, one is Loney, one is a Daub and there are a few Hicks. Of animals there are a Bear, Beaver, Bruno, Buck, Bullheads, Fox, Hart, Hogs, Lamb, Lion and Sheep. Of the body some parts are used: Arms, Cheek, Chin, Finger, Leg, Lash, Lipp, and "Orizle." Portsmouth is a moral city as witness these names: Church, Christian, Bighop, Dean, Elder, Parson, Monk, Prior, Pray and Angel. Offsetting these are Robb, Dice, Gora, Savage, and Slaughter; of plants and flowers we have Bloom, Bramble, Bush, Flowers Posey and Rose.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a fellow several months. He says he loves me, but I care for him only as a friend. He has a birthday anniversary soon and I wonder if I should give him a birthday gift or not.

IN DOUBT.
This is a question that I think every girl should settle for herself, as she knows better than anyone else what her relationship with the boys are. Personally, I do not believe in giving gifts unless the couple is engaged. For this reason, with these little love affairs you can never tell how long they will last, and after it is all over the question comes whether to keep the gifts or not, and there you are. But if you get him a present, do not get an expensive one.

Dear Dolly—I have gone with a man four years and dearly love him, but it seems as though we cannot get along because he has an awful temper and so have I. He has struck me, but still I love him and it seems I cannot make up my mind to live without him.

LONESOME GIRL.
There is nothing I can tell a girl who would belittle herself so much as to continue going with a man who struck her.

Dear Miss Wise—No doubt you think it foolish for me to ask such a question, but I would like to know: What is the proper length of dresses for a woman 40 years old, and in what style should they be made? The women of that age around here are trying to ape the girls of 16.

WILLIAMSON, W. V.
It all depends upon the physique of the woman. Age is lost sight of by the average woman in adopting the present-day styles. If she is slim, age matters not. A number of mothers have adopted the hobble hair style and so have some grandmothers. Sensible women, however, follow the French custom of wearing that which is becoming rather than that which is stylish. Colors are selected that harmonize with the individual complexion.

Dear Dolly—Can you advise me what to do in this peculiar "mix up"? I am going with a fellow whom I love very much and I thought he loved me until his old girl came back to town. They had had a severe "case" and she quit him after one of these quarrels when two strong wills meet. He was an old friend and I felt sorry for him for he looked and acted all the time as if he had lost his last friend. So when he asked me for dates I went with him. His girl went to college and he gradually forgot her, or, at least, all of his.

A SMART GOWN FOR

AFTERNOON OR DINNER

4010-4011. Crepe or crepe de chine, beaded or embroidered would be pretty for this style. The woman of mature figure will find it very attractive, and it will develop equally well for her who boasts of slender lines. Voile and gingham are also nice for this design.

The Waist, 4010 is cut in 7 sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measure. The Skirt, 4011 in 6 sizes: 25, 27, 29, 31, 33 and 35 inches waist measure. To make the dress for a medium size would require 7-8 yards of 32 inch material. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 2 yards.

conversation wasn't of her. I love him now and he said he loved me. We were happy until she returned home from school, and upon hearing about us she began a campaign for him again. I have noticed a difference in him ever since she came back and I think that his love for her never really died, but he is too much of a gentleman to throw me over. Shall I give him up, Dolly, or put up a lady fight?

MITZI.
Although it is an old story, Mitzi, it is still a puzzling one, for Cupid is an exotic god, and it is safer to never be surprised at any happening for which he is responsible. If this were a less selfish world girls would not be so hard on each other. For as you know, it is very rarely that one girl will sacrifice for another girl in a case where both love the same man.

Dear Miss Wise—I am 17 years old and last winter I kept steady

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ONE day Phil Frog and Munch Mouse and Mrs. Bat had a confab.
It was about Oscar Owl.
"Yes, sir," Munch Mouse was saying. "It's true, for my cousin, Harry House-Mouse, saw it in a book. A brown owl sometimes east 20 mice, 20 frogs and a dozen lats in one day."
"Goodness!" gasped Phil. "At that rate one of our children or grandchildren will be left, to say nothing of ourselves!"
Mrs. Bat wagged her head indignantly. She was hanging upside down by her feet inside a hollow tree. Usually at this time of day she was asleep, but news like this would wake anybody.
"What's to be done?" she croaked. "I thought maybe Dr. Snuffles and his helpers could do something for us," said Munch Mouse. "Those Twins are kind-hearted and they're wise. Let's go and tell them the whole thing."
So Munch ran, Phil hopped, and Mrs. Bat flew over to the fairy doctors' house by the blueberry patch and soon told their troubles.
"It's too bad," said kind Nancey. "And too greedy!" declared Nig. "And too much!" nodded Dr. Snuffles. "I'll speak to Oscar at once. Off to Oscar Owl's house in Maple Tree Flats they went, no—not Phil Frog and his friends but the others. Oscar was at home, but asleep. Also he was as cross as a bear at being awakened in broad daylight. "Oscar," said Dr. Snuffles, "I know you didn't send for me, but I saw you yesterday, and you looked so sad I thought I'd call. Stick out your tongue, please."
"There! That's it. Just as I thought. Too much frog and mouse and bat. You'll have to diet for a month. Nothing but a few bugs and a mosquito or two."
"Now remember! I'll have you well in spite of yourself!" Phil and Munch and Mrs. Bat did a jig when they heard the news. (To Be Continued)

Railroad Situation

Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board, who stopped off in Washington today en route back to Chicago from Newport, Tennessee, spent nearly an hour in conference with the president, going over the strike situation, and the plan for settlement.

Chairman Hooper on leaving the White House said he could not "with propriety" discuss the nature of his conversations with the president. He appeared quite hopeful and said that in event the president's proposal was accepted the labor board would grant a rehearing of the wage dispute as soon as the two parties could prepare their cases. He indicated that neither the executives nor the union leaders were as yet in possession of the full details of the settlement plan.

Chairman Hooper just before departing from Washington arranged to attend the session of the general policy committee of the striking shopmen's organization at Chicago tomorrow and said that A. O. Wharton, a labor member of the board, also would be at the meeting. Mr. Jewell sent a telegraphic invitation to Mr. Hooper, which reached him at the White House, asking for the presence of the two board members.

Railway workers should be back on the job within 48 hours or less from the time the strike is settled, Secretary Hoover said today. He declined to comment upon the prospects of a settlement being reached at tomorrow's meetings.

Secretary of Labor Davis expressed confidence that the rail strike would shortly be adjusted to the satisfaction of the administration and the coal strike would be settled through direct conference between the operators and miners' representatives with no further move on the part of the government.

Mr. Davis was of the opinion that the views of A. O. Wharton, labor member of the railroad labor board, that the plan said to have been submitted by President Harding to both parties to the rail strike would be accepted. Mr. Davis called attention that Mr. Wharton formerly held the position now occupied by B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen.

Opinion Divided Among Rail Executives

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Opinion among railroad executives who will meet tomorrow in New York to pass upon President Harding's proposals to settle the railroad strike, is markedly divided, according to all reports coming to the White House, but it is considered certain that a majority of the 145 railroads represented will be in favor of accepting the administration plan. Their decision, however, will not necessarily be binding upon the railroads considered likely to be in a minority favoring rejection of the settlement scheme and these roads on the basis of advice at present available are the larger and better known systems.

The leaders of the striking unions will accept the settlement provided the railroads will put it into effect, but the final decision of the union leaders on calling off the strike would probably be held up in case the settlement did not get their men back to work on the larger roads. Every possible influence is being brought to bear by the administration to increase the number of railroads which might accept the settlement plan, but the president's informants have not been confident that the result would be satisfactory.

President Harding's settlement proposals definitely involve returning to the striking shopmen a degree of seniority in employment if they return over men who have been employed by the railroads to fill their places. This would mean the discharge, eventually, if not at once, of a large part of the men who took the places of the strikers. A considerable group of chief executives of the larger roads, who claim to have fought the strike successfully and to have replaced the strikers with an effective force, are on record in advance of tomorrow's meeting with a flat refusal to take any such action, regardless of what other railroad managements do.

Women

The Republican congressmen now holding are candidates for re-nomination, and there are nine other Republican candidates, with party contests in five of the eight districts. The Democrats have 18 congressional aspirants with contests in six of the eight districts.

The Republicans have a field of seven candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, with two women running. One of the women, Miss Helen Pettigrew, of Kansas City, Kas., is making a campaign in favor of a return to light wine and beer. The other woman, Mrs. W. D. Mowry, also of Kansas City, Kas., is running as a club woman.

It is generally believed that the fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination is between W. Y. Morgan, recognized as the favorite of the present administration and the field composed of W. R. Stubbs, former governor; T. A. McNeal, Capper farm paper editor; W. P. Lambertson, "dirt farmer"; and Fred Knapp, former state auditor.

The Democrats have a three-cornered fight for the gubernatorial nomination. The three candidates are: Colonel Leigh Hunt, of Rosedale, world war hero; Jonathan M. Davis, of Bronson, "dirt farmer"; and Henderson S. Martin, of Lawrence, former vice governor of the Philippines.

The Socialist candidate for governor is M. L. Phillips, of McDonald.

Sutherland

throughout the state as "Honest Abe," undoubtedly will make a strong bid for Republican honors. The other two Republican aspirants are Charles Frederick Edwards, mattress manufacturer, of Huntington, and Deacon M. F. Jones, of Charleston. Edwards is the West Virginia candidate who promises to "put less government in business and more business in government." Deacon Jones claims life-long friendship with Harding, the president and the doctor, his father.

The Democrats

The Democrats will have to decide between a man and a woman. Matthew M. Nally, of Fairmont, and Mrs. William Gay Brown, of Kingwood. Mrs. Brown is the widow of Congressman William Gay Brown. She was leading lady in a Washington stock company when she was married. There are plenty of Democrats who say they are going to vote for Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Brown's chances for nomination undoubtedly are brighter with the backing of former Senator William E. Chilton. Followers of Chilton, who has been out of active politics for some time, are legion, and his endorsement will swing many votes.

Neely is without doubt the party man.

Injection of the mine labor controversy into the Republican primary is seen with the candidacies of William Blizard and Fred Moore, mine union officials, for the state house of delegates from Kanawha county. Blizard was recently acquitted of treason charges in connection with the famous armed march on Logan last summer. Moorey is under indictment for treason and murder. Moorey's murder charge is an outcome of the killing of Sheriff John Gore during the march.

after the beginning of the strike, he declared, was not as formidable as it appeared at first sight. He asserted that a satisfactory solution of the difficulty would be found.

One of the plans under consideration, he said, would return pension privileges and seniority rights to the strikers, but would rank them on the shop lists below the men who remained at work, but ahead of the new men who had been taken on during the emergency, the new men to receive the rank to which they were entitled by length of actual service. He said that this would not conflict with any promises made to new employees and would be in line with settlements reached in other railway strikes.

Must Return Under Reduced Wage In railway circles, it was asserted that any settlement would insist on a return to work by the men under the reduced wages put into effect by the labor board on July 1, pending a rehearing.

The question of national or regional readjustment boards, it was said, might be put before congress, while the roads would yield on the main grievance at issue by agreeing to the abolishment of outside contracting for shop work.

He was unable to appear in court Monday and the court continued the hearing until Thursday. The accused, who is out on bond, has retained Attorney H. L. Small to defend him.

Shoe Firm Seeks Injunction; Makes Charges Against Union

CINCINNATI, O., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—That picketing and surveillance by strikers lowers the efficiency of workers who continue in the company's employ, is charged in the injunction suit filed today by the Julian and Kokenge Company, shoe manufacturers, against the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union. The motion for a temporary injunction will be heard tomorrow. The suit alleges that the plant was conducted as an "open shop" until May, when a strike of union employees was called as the result of a proposed 10 per cent reduction in wages. Prior to the strike, it is alleged, the plant had 280 employees. It now has only about 200 employed, but could operate its various departments, it is alleged, if the strikers were enjoined from alleged unlawful actions in conducting the strike.

Debo's story of the trouble was fully supported by the statement by John Reilly, who was an eyewitness and called the officers. During the encounter Debo was hit over the head a couple of times with an auto pump but he was not badly hurt.

YOUNG MEN HAVE ROW OVER WOMAN; ONE IS SLASHED FOUR TIMES IN THE BACK; TWO ARRESTS ARE MADE

Police Says Pendleton Stabbed Blosser While Latter Was Held

A dispute over a woman, the police say, led to a serious cutting affair at the Shepherd restaurant on Tenth street, opposite the N. & W. passenger station, shortly after ten o'clock Sunday night when it is claimed "Bud" Pendleton, 22 years old, slashed Frank Blosser, 20 years old, 509 Campbell avenue, street car conductor, with a knife, inflicting four ugly gashes in his victim's back.

Police responded to a hurry call and in the investigation which followed the officers learned from eye witnesses, it is claimed, that Arthur Hicks, 29 years old, held Blosser, while his companion, Pendleton, wielded the knife with telling effect.

Blosser was rushed to Schirman hospital where an examination by Drs. Schirman and W. D. Schaefer disclosed that he had sustained four wounds in the upper part of his back, the gashes being 10, 8, 6 and 5 inches in length which required forty stitches to close. The cuts were about two inches deep and severed the muscles of the back but the keen knife blade did not penetrate the inner wall of the back. Blosser, suffered greatly from the loss of blood as the wounds bled freely and he passed a restless night at the hospital but Monday morning his condition was improved. His injuries are not regarded as dangerous and he will probably recover following complications.

Following the trouble the knife user and his companion dashed out of the restaurant and disappeared, but an hour later they were apprehended by the police when trying to make their escape. Officers Startz, Mann, Powers and Downs nabbing the pair as they were about to enter a taxi cab at the Scioto bridge. The prisoners, both of whom are well known Slabtown young men, were locked up at the city jail where they are held without bond on formal charges of cutting with intent to kill. The accused will not be given preliminary hearing until their victim's injuries are fully determined.

SELBY SHOE COMPANY WILL ENLARGE THE IRONTON BRANCH

Further evidence of the solid growth of the Selby Shoe company of this city, is seen in the announcement made Monday that the branch plant at Ironton is to be enlarged, and a second floor of the building now used by the branch is to be utilized, thus doubling the floor space. The room now used by the Selby branch at Ironton has been transformed into one of the most attractive and sanitary rooms of the kind in the state and the new room will be made to conform to this standard.

Concerning their plans for the Ironton branch the Selby Company in their statement say:

Just about one year ago The Selby Shoe Co., considered Ironton a logical place to start a branch plant for the manufacture of their shoes and to test out this idea they started what is known as a fitting Department where the upper part of the shoe is made. After this year of experience they feel that it is time to go on with this project and are now preparing to occupy the other floor of the present building which they leased at the same time with this object in view. This floor will be occupied by what is known as the Bottoming Department, where the soles and heels are attached to the uppers, the entire shoe finished and packed in cartons.

Up to this time the nature of their work was such that they employed women but as soon as the new departments are in operation they will need from 60 to 75 men. Previous experience will not be necessary, the only requirements being energy, ambition and reasonable intelligence. The work of renovating and putting this room in a clean, bright and sanitary condition like the one they are now occupying will be started at once. The machinery will probably be set up and running about October 1st.

Obenchain Jury Appears Deadlocked
LOS ANGELES, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, accused of the murder of her sweet heart, J. Belton Kennedy, a broker, August 3, last, still deliberated today after it had been out 54 1/2 hours.

The jury, composed of five men and seven women, was locked up last night, the latest rumor being that it was deadlocked at 7 to 2 for acquittal and was considering a compromise verdict of manslaughter.

Judge John J. Stinson, who presided at the trial, intimated he expected to call the jurors before him again today and ascertain what progress they had made toward a verdict. He also indicated his intention to keep them out, possibly, until Wednesday, unless they returned a verdict before that time.

In the first trial of Mrs. Obenchain and in both trials of Arthur C. Rurch, her co-defendant, the jurors disagreed.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 31.—Favorable developments in the coal and rail situation imparted a strong tone to opening prices on the New York stock exchange today, advances ranging from large fractions to more than 3 points. Crucible Steel, which shot up 3 3/4 points, to a new high for the year, was the individual feature. Substantial gains were also recorded by Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum, American Tobacco and Laclede Gas. Dupont, which dropped 1 1/2 points, was one of the few exceptions to the general upward trend.

After the first burst of strength profit taking set in and moderate reactions were scored by some of the leaders. The heaviest pressure was directed against the oil and fire stocks, which declined 1 to 3 points. Mexican Petroleum moved back 2 1/2 points, but recovered most of its loss in later dealings. Towards noon there was a heavy accumulation of buying orders and the whole market moved upward under leadership of rails and equipments. Louisville and Nashville with a gain of 4 1/2 points featured the rails. Atlantic Coast Line and Chesapeake and Ohio following with advances of 2 points each. Studebaker and Laclede Gas extended their early gains and American Express also shot upward 4 1/4 points on fairly extensive dealings. California opened at 3 3/4 per cent.

The better complexion of strike news caused a resumption of active buying for both accounts in today's stock market, but the unexpected rise in money rates caused a cancellation of most of the day's gains toward the close. Sales approximated $90,000 shares.

The closing was easy.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, July 31.—Big receipts here, together with a sharp decline in Liverpool quotations, had a bearish effect on the wheat market today during the early dealings. The receipts here are estimated as much as 1,025 carloads. Prospects of settlement of the rail strike were regarded also in some quarters as contributing bearish influence, but opinion on this subject was divided. The opening which varied from 1/2c to 2 1/4c lower, with September 1.06 1/4 to 1.06 1/2 and December 1.08 1/2 to 1.09 was followed by a slight further decline.

Expectations of a bearish crop report on corn tended to weaken the market, and also the oats market. After opening 1/2c to 3/4c lower, September 61 1/2 to 62c, corn continued to sag. Oats started 3/4c to 1/2c off September 34, and later under went a further setback.

Provisions went down with grain notwithstanding higher quotations on legs.

The market closed unsettled at a decline of 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 c heater for July with September 1.05 1/4 to 1.05 3/4 and December 1.07 1/2 to 1.08 1/4. Corn finished unsettled 3/4 to 1c to 1 1/2c net lower with September 61 1/2 to 62c.

War Romance Shattered

A romance which began when the defendant was serving with the American Expeditionary Forces overseas during the World War and which culminated in their marriage on Nov. 14, 1918, at Brest, France, has been shattered, says Louise Slavins, French wife of Anthony B. Slavins, prominent young farmer living near Stockdale, in her suit for divorce and alimony with custody of their minor child instituted in Common Pleas court Monday.

In her petition filed through Attorneys Blair and Blair the wife alleges neglect and cruelty, declaring that Slavins has cursed and abused, assaulted and beat and even has threatened to kill her, besides, she says, on May 21 last, the defendant left the neighborhood in which they were living and took with him their son, Richard, aged three years, and kept the child's whereabouts unknown until July 24 when he returned with the child.

The plaintiff further says that she has no means of support and is wholly dependent upon her own exertions and the charity of friends for her maintenance and upon her application Judge Thomas allowed a temporary injunction to issue restraining Slavins from taking the child or interfering with the wife in her custody and care of the tot until the case comes to final hearing.

In her petition the plaintiff says that Wilburn has cursed and abused her, called her vile names, stayed out at nights and left her alone, with her child, assaulted and choked her, drew a gun upon her and at divers times threatened her with bodily injury and to take her life, besides, she alleges, he squanders his money for drink, on other women and in riotous living to the neglect of her and their child.

The wife furthermore through Attorneys Blair and Blair accuses the defendant of misconduct with other women and on her application Judge Thomas granted a temporary injunction restraining Wilburn from further abusing or assaulting her pending hearing of the suit on its merits. Wilburn is a boiler maker's helper at the N. & W. shops in East Portsmouth.

BROWNS GO BACK INTO FIRST PLACE WHEN YANKEES ARE DEFEATED BY CHICAGO, 6 TO 5

Cardinals Gain On Giants Who Dropped One To Pirates

NEW YORK, July 31.—The penultimate game of the season between the services of George Sisler and Hank Severid, but with able hurling by Wright and Kenneth Williams' 26th home run, have moved into first place again.

Their fellow citizens, the Cardinals, posed a game from Robinson's Dodgers and gained a length on the Giants, who dropped their second straight contest to the Pittsburghers.

The upward movement of the Browns was due to the defeat of the Yankees by the White Sox, 6 to 5, as well as their own 4 to 1 victory over the Red Sox. Wait Hoyt, the Yankee 12th star, was ineffective in six innings against the Chicagoans, who found his delivery for 12 hits.

Tracy Cobb had another good day at bat and so did his men, defeating the Athletics 7 to 2. Cleveland, with Uble in hurling form, and team mates in a batting mood, won from Washington 11 to 3.

Pittsburgh home runs again proved the undoing of the Giants. Max Carey, who drove for the circuit on two occasions Saturday, duplicated his feat, and Russell, another Saturday home runner, added another to his string. Besides, Morrison was in better pitching form than Douglas.

In Brooklyn the Cardinals took advantage of a couple of infield bobbles to win 3 to 2. The victory cost Brooklyn its hold on fifth place as the Pirates moved there.

Fullerton Cops Two

The Fullerton Giants won a double header Sunday taking the first game from the Lucasville nine by a score of 13 to 2. Downy on the mound for the Fullerton nine held the Lucasville sluggers safe, keeping seven hits well scattered. The Fullerton team kept fighting away and beat the All Kentuckians 6 to 3. The scores:

Gridiron Stars Chirp

Sam Phillips and Lonnie Chian, who are employed in Baltimore, are planning to return here in the early fall. They expect to play football this season and have already taken steps to place a first class local eleven in the field this fall. They say Baltimore has a good team in the international league, but the rest are very weak.

Boxing Popular

BOSTON, July 31.—Boxing is on a new basis in Massachusetts. For the first time in a quarter-century professional matches are open to public participation under legal sanction, and it is no longer necessary for a man who wishes to see a bout to first join a club or to the meetings of which referees have been the moderators and boxers, the only members who had the floor. The familiar announcement in introducing fighters that "both are members of this club" is heard no more.

The new order of things is the result of a law establishing a state boxing commission, and stipulating some of the conditions under which the sport must be conducted. These provide for ten-round bouts, the rounds of three minutes each, to be conducted by clubs licensed by the commission under bonds of $5,000. Decisions are given by a referee and two judges, licensed by the commission.

Wake Up, Ironton

The Irontonian Sunday said: "The Secretary of the Portsmouth Horse-Shoe Pitching Association made a special visit to Ironton yesterday, to find out what was the matter with the Ironton pitchers, whether they were like big scouts, merely getting prepared. The flood wallers want to know why there was no answer to their challenge, that they hurried at the local pitchers some time ago. Incidentally he left another challenge, as follows:

"The Portsmouth horse-shoe pitchers for the second time, challenge the horse-shoe pitchers of Ironton to a friendly game of horse-shoes, four six, eight or ten pitchers on a side, singles or doubles. The first match to be pitched at Ironton and a return match to be arranged at that time."

What'll say, you flingers of the luck pieces? Are we going to stand any more of this challenging stuff from the flood wallers? Get together; hold an elimination contest and pick the best tossers and then send the flood wallers a wireless to come up, that we are ready."

Willard Gets Contract

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 29.—Jess Willard has received a contract from Tex Rickard offering him a bout with Jack Dempsey on October 6, he announced today.

"I have accepted Rickard's terms except the date," Willard said. "I am holding out for October 31."

NATIONAL RUSSELL GETS ANOTHER

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Pirates took the Giants into camp for the second time in a row, blanking them, 7 to 0. Morrison led the champions down with seven well-scattered hits. Max Carey and Rob Russell again featured with the bat, Carey getting his fourth homer in two days, while Russell got his second in two games.

ACTS, NOT WORDS, COUNT

NE'S life should not be measured by time, but by service.
Its history should not be so much a record of his words as of his acts. Its influence is not in proportion to his years, but to his righteousness. He has been of service to his fellows to the extent that his deeds have been constructive.
It is not so much the evil things one has refrained from doing as the good things he has done.
Positiveness on the side of right gets him somewhere. It builds, it lifts, it pulls, it purifies and ennobles.
Quiescent good is not a force for right. It does no more good than it does harm—not as much.
Action is as imperatively demanded in mental and spiritual things as in material. It is not he who offers no discouraging words who cheers and comforts, but he who speaks the word of encouragement. Keeping silent when one's friend is overwhelmed with grief does not comfort him. It is the friendly hand upon his shoulder, the sympathetic word in his ear, the act of helpfulness in his behalf that means something to him. It is he who gives the "cup of cold water" who earns the gratitude of the thirsty, and not he who simply does not prevent the thirsty from getting it himself.
The negative man is a failure.
He may pull back, but those who pull forward have to carry his weight.
He is a burden that is not worth the energy that would take him a mile.
He is a consumer, but not a producer. He uses the light, but creates none. He slakes his thirst, but refuses to go to the well for water.
The inactive man may take no part in the persecution, but he holds the coats of those who stone Stephen.
He would offer no help in cultivating the soil, but would consume his share of the fruits of the toil of others. He would not aid in repelling the enemy from his native land, but would enjoy the tranquillity of peace and the blessings of liberty earned by his compatriots.
The life of service is the happy life.
Inactivity superinduces indifference, and indifference means sooner or later criminal negligence, sloth and "filthy rags." The principle of righteous activity is included in the economy of life; it is in the created universe, in all nature. "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work," said the Master. The fact that man is given the ability and intelligence to work, that he knows what is constructive and what is destructive carries with it the implied command for him to exercise his talents and intellect in obedience to the command, "Work while it is day, for the night cometh when no man can work." He who rests in idleness will not only be useless to those about him, but will develop a mental attitude that is certain to affect for ill, not only himself, but those about him.
It is better to wear than to rust.
He who lives the life of the jellyfish will enjoy it about as much as the jellyfish; indeed, hardly so much, since the jellyfish knows no better, and the man does. The first may be happy, but he doesn't know it; the other is miserable and does know it.
"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." Every self-sacrifice is a carrying out of this life sacrifice in proportion to its greatness. The principle involved reaches its climax when one lays down his life, and so extends on down to the little courtesies demanded by good breeding, which in themselves are but little sacrifices. The bearing of burdens is a sacrifice of time and strength; but we are told, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."
Generosity is not a vehicle for the exploitation of one's good deeds to the world at large. Doing a kindness in a way that carries with it the desire to impress upon the beneficiary that he is under obligation to the donor has lost all its merit even before it is done, and is an insult to him who is the recipient of such kindness.
The most beautiful thing of which man is capable is self-sacrifice.
That new gold strike in Colorado is not the kind that calls for arbitration.
Those Russians, it now seems, are determined to drag out The Hague conference to the very last meal.
Chicago bootleggers are suspected of poisoning a prohibition agent. Perhaps he sampled their wares.
There probably isn't much hope for the young man who has to be told opportunity doesn't loaf around a poolroom.
The press agent who said a certain make of car would go anywhere probably didn't have the White House in mind as an objective.
More than 100,000 automobiles are stolen in the United States every year, but it is hard to make a man with a lemon insured against theft believe it.
Naturally the bolsheviks are not willing to make restitution of stolen property. There would be no need of being bolsheviks if they had to do that.

SAMUEL PRESENTS SAUL TO THE PEOPLE

SAMUEL anointed Saul that he might be king over Israel as the Lord had said. Samuel commanded the people to go to Mizpeh to have a king set over them. Saul had hidden, but the people brought him out and he stood among them, higher than any of them from his shoulders and upward. Samuel told them how Saul would rule and wrote it in a book. Saul was made king in Gilgal. Saul and his son Jonathan fought against the Philistines and against all of their enemies and delivered Israel out of the hands that had spoiled them.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY G. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 31.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and to the train sheds where I welcomed H. C. Wither, the scrivener, all merry and bright. Then to breakfast with P. Kelly, the pamphleteer, who told of putting his Airplane dog in a training college and we fashioned many japeries thereat.
Walking to Avenue A, I strolled southward and came upon a street lurper and talked to him, finding a fellow with the soundest philosophy about life and happiness I ever heard talk. Listened also to a street preacher and bought pretzels from a market cart.
Home and sat about trying vainly to write, but my thoughts on other matters and so with my wife to see a Winter Garden revue and most amusing too, but the girls wearing the fewest clothes ever I saw and some hunched garbed only in colored paint.
Took dinner with V. Porter and D. Mansfield at Beefsteak Charlie's and ate a steak smothered with onions and a salad of onions and drank cold beer of near beer and with a great relish, too. Then walked with them amongst the theatre crowds and so home and to bed.
The midnight club offers few thrills to its faded habitués but the other evening around one o'clock the patrons stiffened with a bit of interest. Into the room swept a young, fair-haired girl in a claupe gown of Greek inspiration. She wore a necklace sparkling with diamonds and a head dress that sprayed out at each side with paradise plumes. She was the smartest dressed girl in the entire assemblage and there were but few who did not recognize her as the girl who attended the telephone switchboard on the first floor. Her escort was a young South American who has been enlivening things in the Broadway cafes with an inextinguishable roll.

Somebody over at the Friars inquired if there had been any more news from Langhorne, Pa.
"Was there ever any news from there?" asked Kelsey Allen.
"Not until last Tuesday," said Bugs Baer, "when the town marshal shot two visiting mail carriers in uniform from Pittsburgh. He thought they were confederate scouts."
The passing of William Rock removed from the theatre a man whose artistry was in his power of suggestion. Rock always confessed to his intimates that he was not a dancer. But he had the trick of making his audiences believe that he was doing something out of the ordinary. He was a keen observer and knew what the public wanted. He was the first to discover Frances White, and Miss White gives him all credit for the training which resulted in her subsequent stardom. Rock had been struggling for several years to keep at work, despite the fact that he was a constant sufferer from a multiple stomach malady. At his last appearance on the stage he weighed only 80 pounds. "I used to have a colored cook who had a golfer that weighed more than that," he told his producer.

The ship news photographers had quite a picture with which to race to Park Row the other day when John Barrymore and his wife, Michael Strange, sailed for Europe. They were rolling Panama hats as like as two peas and sport shirts of the same pattern. Their loosely knotted four-in-hands also matched, to say nothing of their lustrous sack suits. Strangely enough they made no effort to dodge the army of camera clickers. (Copyright 1922, by The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Content

I let Fame go by with never a sigh. I don't envy princes or heroes; It's glory for me just to know I am free. I don't crave the pomp that was Nero's. The world is complete while in my retreat. I can watch the white caravans sailing— From a porch where I sit on the back of my skull. And rack up my feet on the railing.
I miss all the strife that is present in life. The climbing, the doubt, the mis-giving. And all that is spent just to win the content. That somehow is mine from mere living. For mine is the dream in the place of the scheme. Not mine are the cussing and wailing— As I sit on my porch on the back of my skull. And rack up my feet on the railing.
My wrinkles are few on this round little sphere. I make quite the best of reverses; I manage to grin without cracking my skin. I'll leave the long face for the heuristics. It's just 'cause I own in the front of my home. With numbers and 'suckle a-trail-ing. A porch where I sit on the back of my skull. And rack up my feet on the railing. G. A. Paravical.
Excelsior!
It had been a hard day at the hotel and the bellhop was more than annoyed when he was assigned to tote the bag of an old lady who had a room on the twelfth floor, but who had elected to walk because she was afraid of elevators.
At the top of the third flight he paused, fished in his pocket and held a small object toward her. "Here's a dime, ma'am," he said. "Now yer can carry yer bag up to yer room yerself."

She Does Her Best
"I declare," exclaimed Mrs. Gash, "half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."
"Never mind, my dear," consoled her husband in a soothing voice. "It isn't your fault."

The Race With Death

The boss had compiled a list with recommendations for increases in salaries and the stenog's name was not among them. It was natural that she should be peeved. In revising the list, one name had to be omitted because of the death of the employee.
"It's too bad Williams died before he got his raise, isn't it?" asked the boss with proper sympathy.
"Yes, indeed," replied the stenog with suspicious sweetness, "but I think anyone is liable to die in this office."
